Subject: LICE for promotion to JTO grade – Condoning shortfall in qualifying service period – regarding

R/Madam,

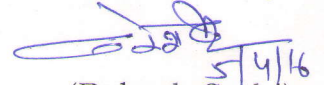

We would like to draw your kind attention towards an eligibility issue brought to our notice, for appearing in the LICE for promotion to JTO (T) grade, pertaining to Tamilnadu Circle.

2. In the year 2008, around 320 TTAs were recruited in Tamilnadu and were sent for training in different batches starting from 02.06.2008 to 01.09.2008. 180 TTAs had their training commenced in June 2008 and the remaining 140 TTAs were given training after June 2008. As a result, the latter 140 TTAs do not have the prescribed qualifying service for appearing in the said LICE. Our Tamilnadu Circle association had requested the circle administration that the shortfall in the prescribed service period including the training period (Cutoff date July 1) be condoned and all the TTAs recruited in 2008 be permitted to appear for the LICE. Although the Tamilnadu circle administration agreed to consider positively the representations received from the candidates in this regard, problem has arisen while registering online for the examination, since the software does not accept registration of the 140 TTAs who do not have the prescribed qualifying service.

3. We request you to kindly intervene and cause action as required so that these TTAs of the same recruitment year are not deprived of their chance to appear in the examination merely because they were sent for training at a later date.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

(Rakesh Sethi)
